“I have an incredible passion for teaching and learning. I get a real buzz seeing teachers (new and experienced) and children develop and progress through my teaching, coaching and support “

Chris has more than two year experience of leading teaching and learning both in his own school and partner schools. He has coached staff within his school to make a significant impact on raising the standard and quality of teaching. In addition he has coached and mentored students, NQT and RQT to improve their teaching, share best practice and consider different approaches to teaching and learning. He has experience of delivering and supporting others through the ITP and OTP courses.

Chris has led and implemented new initiatives in school through staff training and inset. These include Talk for Learning which has had a major impact on outcomes for children's achievement and attainment. He has led on mastery in the new curriculum to help other staff feel more confident in delivering and assessing. He is currently a year six teacher with a track record of exceptional outcomes for children's progress.

His role has also involved preparing for whole school Ofsted inspections and themed ICT and Behaviour inspections
