

Julia Black, Old Basford
Primary,

- Support for NQT's and Initial Teacher Training Programme.

“I enjoy working with colleagues in other schools and being able to support teachers to have a successful start to their career. I am continually looking for new ideas and innovations to practice within my classroom and share with others.”

Julia has been working in Nottingham City Schools for 6 years, working across Key Stage 2. She has experience of leading different areas of the wider curriculum including Science, Healthy Schools, R.E and International Dimensions. She has worked closely with the school leadership team to help provide an exciting, enriching and creative curriculum. She currently leads Literacy in the school and is working collaboratively with her colleagues to ensure that it is taught creatively to allow all of the children to achieve their potential.

She has experience of coaching class teachers, Newly Qualified Teachers and students in her own and other schools, supporting them to have successful start to their careers.

Julia has taken part in the Outstanding Teacher Programme and she has used this to support raising standards within her own school.

Julia is able to provide tailored specialist support for Newly Qualified Teachers and those completing Initial Teacher Training Programmes.
