

Name: Kelly Lee

Title: Headteacher
Lead for Transform School Direct

Length of Position: 8 years

“With a belief that coaching can have a profound impact upon my own practice and that of others, I am committed to collaborating together to aid school improvement and leadership development. As a member of Transform, Challenge Partners and a Faith Partnership of schools, I have found the mutual sharing of ideas amongst head teachers to be highly effective and would welcome the opportunity to support your school.”

I am an experienced Headteacher of a diverse, inner city, Church of England Primary School; passionate about school improvement and the development of others. Drawing upon my experience as an Executive Headteacher and trained OFSTED Inspector, I enjoy learning from and working with school leaders to enable children and staff in our schools to achieve their personal best.

As lead for Transform School Direct initial teacher training and with a strong partnership with the University of Nottingham, I can support your school with the recruitment and development of newly qualified teachers and succession planning to retain excellent teachers and grow future leaders.

With a commitment to supporting schools in the wider education system, Sneinton has a number of Specialist Leaders of Education who enjoy sharing their expertise and practice with others. We are a research engaged school and are continually looking to improve our own practice by remaining up to date with current thinking and contribute to local Teach Meets and leadership networks whilst refining our own practice. For further information, please email kelly.lee@sneinton.nottingham.sch.uk

