I am passionate about the difference that an excellent School Business Manager can make in supporting school improvement through efficient management of resources, motivated staff and a safe school environment. I enjoy working in collaboration to share my knowledge and experiences but also to learn from others for my own professional development.

Andy Mullahy is the School Business Manager at Rosslyn Park Primary and Nursery School. He has 6 years of experience in this role which has included working in a maintained school setting, through academy conversion and now in an academy as part of Transform Trust. Andy understands the demands of this role within these different settings, which means he can offer compassionate guidance and support to other SBMs.

Prior to becoming a School Business Manager, Andy worked in the 14-19 strategy team for Nottingham City Council to successfully support and facilitate partnership collaboration between schools, colleges and training providers to enable progression routes for pupils who were not able to achieve good GCSEs.

Andy is part of the School Leadership Team at Rosslyn Park and has experience of supporting other School Business Managers who are new to joining the Trust. He has a comprehensive knowledge of finance, HR, administrative and Health & Safety functions within a primary school environment. Andy is comfortable engaging with all stakeholders including school staff, parents, Head Teachers, Governors, Trust Directors, other SBMs and pupils. Andy also takes times out each week to organise and supervise games for the children on the playground.
